‘Heart of Christmas’ event benefits charity

Oro Valley Church of the Nazarene’s presentation of “The Heart of Christmas” resulted in a donation of $7,770 to Interfaith Community Services.

With a cast and choir of 120, the Christmas show attracted a total audience of 4,190 during its eight-performance run. The show was free, but after each performance an offering was taken to benefit ICS.

The result was a check for $7,769.50 for ICS, a nonprofit located at 2820 W. Ina Road.

“With this generous gift, ICS will be able to supply 1,417 meals for low-income and fragile seniors and help 65 families keep the heat on in their homes this winter,” said Terri Patt-Smith, the agency’s associate director.

ICS, founded in 1985, helps seniors, the disabled and the disadvantaged achieve stable and independent lives through support from volunteers, faith communities and the community at large. The Oro Valley Church of the Nazarene is one of ICS’s 43 member faith communities.
